Ownership made possible for everyone.

The Cook County Whole Foods Co-op was born on a homestead named, Castle Yonder, just outside of Grand Marais, MN in the late 1960s. Several families in the Good Harbor Hill neighborhood were looking for a simple life on the land. This lifestyle included healthy, inexpensive foods. True to our roots, Cook County Whole Foods Co-op still celebrates these values. That's why we now offer The Good Harbor Hill Scholarship to owners old and new alike.

To become an owner at the Cook County Whole Foods Co-op, everyone must pay the one-time cost of $120. It can be paid in 10 quarterly payments of $12 dollars, but this might seem out of reach for some. We understand, and the Good Harbor Hill Scholarship is our response. Choose below how much you think you need to make that $120 payment possible. With the GHH Scholarship, you can become an owner in a manner you can afford today.
